

To Whom it May Concern
Re: Recommendation of Anastasia Ignashkina

I am writing this letter of recommendation for Anastasia Ignashkina whom I have known as math and English comprehension tutor for my special needs son through Tutor Me Education. My son, Nazarawi Yilma, is an English second language speaker with Mathematics and English Comprehension challenges. Anastasia has been working with him for the past 1 year at least 3 days per week 1 hour for each session.

As we all imagine the challenge of managing the academic and behavioral needs of a special needs child, I am extremely impressed but satisfied with the changes and achievements Anastasia has brought with in this short period of time. Me as health care professional by profession, a researcher and former University professor, I believe I have the knowledge and skill to assess the qualities of a tutor or a teacher. I have also seen and experienced other tutors in the past who have worked with my son.

Given the above facts, I and my family have always admired the patience, commitment and devotion of Anastasia while teaching my son. Most importantly, my son liked Anastasia and I can tell she is very interested and committed in teaching my son. I have observed an honest and diligent personality in Anastasia. Anastasia has shown me that one is not teaching because he or she is being paid unless that person is given to the job or the profession. Anastasia has helped my son change NOT because she is paid but because she respected and loved the job she is doing. This is why we are very eager to have Anastasia continue working with our son.

Finally, I don't have any doubt that Anastasia can be a very productive, successful, and honest professional in any career and profession she wants to pursue. I fully support and believe she will be an asset to the reorganization she is working for.

Thank you.
